How Does Managed SIEM Help Secure My Company Better?

Think of Huntress Managed SIEM as the control room in your building's security system. The system doesn't just watch the doors or windows; it monitors everything happening inside the building, 24/7.

How it Works

- Smart Filtering
  Just like a good security camera system, Managed SIEM records everything but only alerts you to what's important. It filters out the background noise and shows you the events that might actually be a threat.
- Constant Monitoring

  The SIEM system watches every corner of your building—your firewalls, SaaS applications, and endpoints—round the clock, ensuring that nothing suspicious slips by unnoticed.
- Compliance Made Easy

  Managed SIEM also acts like a digital logbook. It stores all the information you need to prove your building (business) is secure. So, when regulators or insurers need to check, you have everything ready.
- Threat Detection

  When the system flags a serious threat, it can notify your security team (or the Huntress MDR team) to step in and handle the problem. It's like having security guards who are ready to respond when the alarm goes off.
- Data Storage

  All the security camera footage (logs) is stored safely, allowing you to go back and review anything that happened. This is critical for compliance, investigations, or simply understanding what went wrong.

With Huntress Managed SIEM, it's like having a control room that not only monitors everything but also makes sure the right alarms go off at the right time. It takes care of the day-to-day security so you can focus on running your business.
